Strategies for Successful Husband Hunting

1. Define Your Priorities: Before embarking on your search for a life partner, take the time to reflect on what you truly desire in a husband. Consider your core values, lifestyle preferences, and long-term goals. This clarity will help you filter potential partners and focus on those who align with your vision of an ideal husband.

2. Cultivate Self-Love: It's essential to love and value yourself before expecting someone else to do the same. Take the time to nurture your physical, emotional, and mental well-being. Confidence and self-assuredness are attractive qualities that will empower you in your husband hunting journey.

3. Embrace Technology: Online dating platforms and apps can be powerful tools in expanding your options and connecting with like-minded individuals. However, it's crucial to approach them with caution and set clear boundaries. Be open-minded but discerning, and always prioritize your safety when interacting with strangers online.

4. Leverage Social Networks: Don't underestimate the power of your existing social networks. Attend social events, engage in group activities, and let your friends and family know that you are actively looking for a husband. Often, the most meaningful connections can be made through common interests or mutual acquaintances.

Husband Hunting in the Digital Age

The rise of social media and dating apps has undoubtedly impacted the way we search for partners. Online platforms offer us unprecedented access to a diverse pool of potential husbands. However, it's important to approach the digital landscape cautiously.

1. Craft an Authentic Online Persona: When presenting yourself online, aim for authenticity. Be truthful about your interests, values, and intentions. Instead of chasing popularity or self-presentation, focus on attracting individuals who appreciate and connect with the real you.

2. Utilize Search Filters: Many dating platforms allow you to filter potential matches based on criteria such as age, location, and interests. Take advantage of these features to narrow down your options and find individuals who fit your desired profile.

3. Engage in Meaningful Conversations: When communicating with potential partners online, go beyond superficial small talk. Ask thought-provoking questions, share personal stories, and listen attentively. Meaningful connections are built on deep conversations and genuine exchanges.

The Art of Date Selection

Once you've connected with someone who piques your interest, the next step is planning a date. The choice of date can reveal a lot about a person's interests and priorities. Consider the following ideas:

1. Coffee Date: A classic choice, a coffee date allows for casual conversation in a relaxed setting. It's a great option for getting to know someone without the pressure of a formal dinner date.

2. Outdoor Activity: Choose a date that involves an outdoor activity, such as hiking, biking, or a picnic in the park. These types of dates allow you to bond over shared experiences and enjoy the beauty of nature together.

3. Cultural Exploration: Visit a museum, art gallery, or attend a cultural event together. This provides an opportunity to discover shared interests and engage in meaningful conversations about topics that matter to both of you.

Searching for a husband can be an exciting and transformative journey if approached with the right mindset and strategies. By defining your priorities, leveraging technology and social networks, and engaging in meaningful conversations, you increase your chances of finding a compatible life partner.

Remember, Husband Hunting 202 Glory Abah is not about settling for any husband, but rather about finding the right one who complements your aspirations and values. So, step into this adventure with confidence, and let love find its way to you.

People say that a man and a woman's friendship is like that of a goat and yam. One day, the goat will eat the yam.

They are wrong.

I have been best friends with Benjamin (Benji for short) for nine years and counting. No yam has been eaten so far, neither will it be eaten. Nothing can come in between our friendship.

But as my thirtieth birthday is approaching and I'm still as single as a pringle, I triple my efforts to find a husband. After all, a girl cannot marry herself. Unfortunately, Benji is cranky and unsupportive of my plans. How can he not understand that I need a husband?

Then I find out he is in love with me. In fact, he has always been in love with me. Well, this yam does not want to be eaten. All I feel for Benji is friendship and nothing else.

Until he kisses me.

One kiss can ruin everything and suddenly, I am not sure anymore if all I feel for Benji is friendship.

Love and friendship cannot mix. Right?
