A Gascon Year: Index (A Gascon Year: Volumes 1-12 + Index) by Kate Hill (Kindle Edition)

★★★★★ 5 out of 5

A Gascon Year: Index is a quick reference to the recipes and essays contained in Kate Hill's A Gascon Year, a series of 12 seasonal cookbooks featuring food and stories as warm and comforting as a hot supper cooked in an old French Farmhouse. Kate Hill, writer, cook and teacher, entices the reader into her life in Southwest France as she shares the regional and delicious recipes of Gascony.

This volume is an index to the other volumes within this series. It will help you find some of her favorite recipes and a few stories that paint the picture of the Kitchen at Camont over the years. In her words:

"As one Gascon year ends and another yet begins, I can't be more excited than to see these 12 volumes in their entirety, edited into a very usable recipe index (with titles in french and in english) as well as a compendium of all the table of contents. When you need a little inspiration in your own kitchen, take a browse through the recipe index or the table of contents and go to that seasonal volume.

"...many of these simple French recipes, learned at my neighbors' apron strings, were like meeting old friends again, I had forgotten how often I made that simple winter soup (January—p.30) or the simple chickpea and zucchini galettes (June —p.35) when the potager is in overflowing mode. If you have all the volumes on hand digitally, it's easy enough to keep them in a folder on your desktop for handy reference. I hope this completes your Gascon Year and makes the taste of Finding France even easier and more delicious."

Each of these monthly cahiers de cuisine or kitchen notebooks is built on seasonal inspiration and instruction with personal essays, recipes, and photographs that are timeless. Easy to follow recipes for aperitifs and soups, main courses, and desserts fill these delectable volumes. A Gascon Year, a 12 volume series, introduces the reader to Kate Hill Cooks, the online teaching courses at Kitchen-at-Camont.com and all the good food she creates within its 18th century stone walls for her students around the globe.
