A Passionate Pursuit

During his college years, Josh discovered a deep passion for entrepreneurship and personal development. He realized that true success lies not in conforming to society's expectations but in pursuing his dreams wholeheartedly. With this newfound insight, he embarked on a mission to become a pioneer in his chosen field.

But Josh faced numerous setbacks along the way. Repeated rejections and failures only fueled his determination to prove himself. Instead of succumbing to the challenges, he used them as building blocks for growth. He refused to accept defeat and pushed himself harder than ever before.

The Turning Point

After years of hard work and countless sleepless nights, Josh's breakthrough moment arrived. He developed a groundbreaking product that revolutionized the industry, attracting attention from investors and consumers alike. His determination and unwavering belief in his ideas finally paid off, positioning him as an influential figure in his field.

Moreover, Josh's success did not make him complacent. Recognizing that true fulfillment lies in making a positive impact on the world, he dedicated a significant part of his earnings to philanthropic endeavors. Josh built schools and donated to various charitable causes, ensuring that others have the opportunities he fought so hard to gain.

Josh put his finger on the word and tried to sound it out.

By the time he got to the bottom of the page, a headache had started to pound behind his left ear. He snapped the book shut and shoved it across the table.

“I hate reading.”

Eleven-year-old Josh’s summer is getting off to a bad start. It’s the first week of vacation, but instead of being out on the water in his nifty sailing dinghy, he’s stuck in the library with the latest in a long string of tutors. Josh is dyslexic—and since he moved out west to live with Dad, a whole new crop of kids have been teasing him about his problems writing and reading.

At least Josh loves living at the marina on Dad’s cruising yacht. He’s counting the days until his brother, Matt, still back in Toronto with their mom, comes out to join Josh and his dad for a sailing trip.

When a mean classmate, Brittany, bets Josh he can’t beat her in an upcoming boat race, Josh isn’t too worried. With Matt as his racing partner, he’ll stand a good chance. But when the news comes that Matt has to enroll in summer school instead, Josh’s anxiety goes into overdrive. If he loses the race to Brittany, he’ll have to volunteer as a reader at the library—his worst nightmare! It’s time for Josh to prove what he’s made of, and readers will cheer him on as help comes from unexpected quarters.

Combining sailing lore, page-turning adventure and gentle humour, first-time novelist Jenny Watson has crafted an engaging, encouraging tale. Josh’s story comes full of inspiration, not just for the learning disabled, but for anyone who has to overcome adversity.
