

Something Coming: Universal Cities Of Light Love And Healing

Imagine a world where love, healing, and spiritual growth are the core values of every city. A place where individuals come together to create harmony, balance, and transcendence. It may sound like a utopian dream, but there is something extraordinary on the horizon – Universal Cities of Light.

For centuries, humanity has strived to create spaces that elevate the soul, radiate love, and inspire transformation. The concept of Universal Cities of Light expands on this aspiration, offering hope for a future where love and healing are truly at the heart of every community.

The Vision

Universal Cities of Light are envisioned as spaces where the earthly and celestial realms come together in perfect harmony. They are places specifically designed to facilitate spiritual growth, awakening, and transformation. These cities will be centers of love and healing, where individuals from all walks of life can come to experience profound spiritual shifts and unite in the pursuit of higher consciousness.

The individuals behind this visionary concept believe that when cities are infused with love and healing energy, they have the power to uplift the collective consciousness of humanity. Every aspect of these cities – from the architecture to the community initiatives – will be designed with the purpose of fostering love, compassion, and spiritual expansion.

The Science Behind It

While the concept of Universal Cities of Light may seem fantastical, there is scientific evidence to support the idea that spaces can impact human consciousness and well-being. Numerous studies have shown that architecture, design, and environmental factors can influence the mental, emotional, and even physical health of individuals.

Researchers have explored the effects of natural light, color schemes, and spatial design on human well-being. They have discovered that exposure to natural light can improve mood, increase productivity, and enhance cognitive function. Meanwhile, specific color palettes have been found to evoke different emotional responses, influencing our overall well-being.

When applied intentionally, these principles of design can create spaces that support healing, growth, and spiritual transformation. Universal Cities of Light strive to embody these concepts on a grand scale, bringing together the elements necessary for individuals to tap into their highest potential.

The Role of Love and Healing

The central theme of Universal Cities of Light is love and healing. Love, both as an internal experience and external force, has transformative powers capable of healing emotional wounds, fostering connection, and inspiring personal growth. By placing love at the forefront, these cities will create an environment where individuals can experience and cultivate deep love for themselves, others, and the world around them.

Healing, in this context, encompasses more than just physical health. It includes emotional healing, spiritual rejuvenation, and the restoration of balance on all levels of existence. Universal Cities of Light will offer a wide range of healing modalities, such as energy work, sound therapy, meditation, and holistic medicine, to address the multidimensional aspects of human well-being.

Creating Unity and Connection

Beyond personal growth, Universal Cities of Light will play a crucial role in fostering unity and connection among individuals. By centering on love, these cities will bring people together in a shared quest for higher consciousness, transcending barriers such as race, religion, or socioeconomic status.

Community initiatives will be an integral part of these cities, providing opportunities for individuals to engage in collective projects aimed at creating positive change. This sense of unity and collaboration will not only uplift the local communities but will send ripples of love and healing throughout the world.

The Unfolding Future

The realization of Universal Cities of Light may still be on the horizon, but the concept itself is already sparking hope and excitement among those who long for a more harmonious and spiritually aligned world. People from all walks of life are coming together to envision and co-create this future reality.

While the specific details and locations of these cities are yet to be determined, the driving force behind their creation is the collective belief in the power of love and healing to transmute and elevate human consciousness.

Whether you are a spiritual seeker, an architect, or simply someone yearning for a world brimming with love, Universal Cities of Light are an awe-inspiring vision that invites us to imagine and actively participate in the creation of a future where love, healing, and transformation are at the heart of every community.

Something's Coming... and it's good news for a change! In an era when many are focused on end-of-the-world doom and gloom, along comes an exciting book to uplift humanity, reminding us that we are not alone and that help is already on the way. In Something's Coming author Genii Townsend, a trans-audio visionary, shares information kept secret for 25 years. Her "inner-vision journeys" began in 1982 when her husband, Rev. William Townsend, a Religious Science minister, brought forth drawings of Cities of Light while in meditation. After his passing,

Genii Townsend continued where he left off and the city visits are now recorded in this book. No development on earth is more fascinating than the advent of the Cities of Light, and the discussion can be traced to the middle of the last century. What, exactly, is a City of Light?

Much like Atlantis, it is a portal where the star brothers and sisters can come for exchange of cultural ideas, technology, art and healing. The book describes it as the unfoldment of a very large universal plan. It is going beyond the universe to... an interdimensional portal of love where beings from everywhere can experience a community of love.”

The Cities of Light can be glimpsed with our physical eyes but are more apparent to our Third and Fourth Eyes. They are “crystal cities of the future, places of peace and harmony where love prevails.” As real places in the higher dimensions, people can “anchor new realities and new dimensional realities within the 3rd dimension” as an expanded experience. They are also for advanced healing through light, sound and color—“examples of what can be done by using our technologies for the good of all.”

The book describes the purpose and plans for a City of Light in Sedona, Arizona—a prototype for 13 more cities to appear around the planet “any day now.” Included are diagrams and descriptions of advanced technologies, prophecies, discussion of the need for spiritual awakening and enlightenment on earth, and details of the city’s amazing features.

Genii paints a picture for readers of what it’s like to enter such a place after 100+ visits she has made within the City of Light. “Imagine entering a place of such beauty that it makes you an instant believer that anything is possible, like entering a 5-story-high gate that is encoded with your personal beliefs that makes you feel like you just came home.

“Imagine experiencing healing techniques in light modules where no drugs, knives or needles can sever the body's electrical lines. Imagine a Memory Manor building where you can release past memory hurts with no emotion attached and a Fountain of Light that makes you feel physically and mentally great, and sitting on benches that massage the body. Imagine an Empowerment Emporium where you can balance your emotions and a “Birth-aterium” where babies are born laughing with the mother who had no anesthesia, no pain and the only crying is for the pure joy of the experience. And finally, imagine a stadium-size building called The Embassy of Peace Headquarters where “Light Beings gather to help bring forth peace on this earth.”

The Cities of Light function to heal us and raise our vibrations and consciousness. They are delightful places to be, they are places where peace reigns already. They exist in the Fifth Dimension and higher and are destined to play a large role in the transfer of learning and technology for us in the new Golden Age.

Townsend writes: “Will it enhance peoples’ lives? I think the common words will be ‘OH MY GOD!’ I ask you to hold the vision in your heart. Make no mistake, this planet will glow in love like never before.”

The stage is ready, the scenes inside these pages invite you to witness what is coming about, and this is your invitation, page by page, before the magic happens. Get your copy and get ready for the greatest show on earth. This book will show you how you can enter the city portals and change your reality forever.
