The rich and diverse Jewish cultures have always fascinated scholars, researchers, and enthusiasts around the globe. With the release of Studies in Cultures 13: Jewish Cultures New Perspectives, a new wave of exciting research and profound insights into Jewish cultures has emerged. This groundbreaking compilation of scholarly articles sheds light on previously unexplored facets of Jewish traditions, histories, arts, and identities, providing readers with a fresh and comprehensive understanding of this vibrant community.

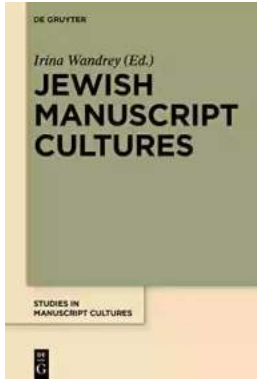

Delving into the Past: Unveiling Ancient Jewish Traditions

One of the key aspects explored in this volume is the resurrection of ancient Jewish practices and traditions. The articles delve into various Hebrew rituals, tracing their origins back to biblical times and uncovering the socio-cultural significance they hold in Jewish communities across the globe. From examining the historical context behind the lighting of Shabbat candles to unearthing the forgotten traditions of Jewish wedding ceremonies, readers are offered a glimpse into the rich tapestry of rituals that have sustained Jewish cultures for generations.

Untold Stories: Rediscovering Jewish Histories

The collection of articles in Studies in Cultures 13 also highlights less-known chapters of Jewish history that have often been overshadowed by mainstream narratives. From exploring the Jewish diaspora in ancient Southeast Asia to uncovering the experiences of Sephardic Jews in the Ottoman Empire, the authors bring to light the stories of Jewish communities that have long been rendered invisible in historical accounts. These revelations challenge preconceived notions and broaden our understanding of Jewish history, inviting readers to challenge the dominant narratives and embrace a multiplicity of perspectives.

Hebrew manuscripts are considered to be invaluable documents and artefacts of Jewish culture and history. Research on Hebrew manuscript culture is progressing rapidly and therefore its topics, methods and questions need to be enunciated and reflected upon. The case studies assembled in this volume explore various fields of research on Hebrew manuscripts. They show paradigmatically the current developments concerning codicology and palaeography, book forms like the scroll and codex, scribes and their writing material, patrons, collectors and censors, manuscript and book collections, illuminations and fragments, and, last but not least, new methods of material analysis applied to manuscripts. The principal focus of this volume is the material and intellectual history of Hebrew book cultures from antiquity to the Middle Ages and Early Modern Period, its intention being to heighten and sharpen the reader's understanding of Jewish social and cultural history in general.
