Life cannot be summed up in a single snapshot. It is a moving, breathing, ever-evolving landscape that is never the same between any two people, and changes from day to day. But within and between the stretches of time where we define and redefine ourselves occur moments that can turn our lives around, give us new perspective, put us on an unexpected path, or just have us come away with a different idea we never thought of before. Contained within these pages are testimonies to such life-altering moments couched in a decidedly Christian atmosphere. What really happened at the Feeding of the Five Thousand? Do you have to be human in order to go to heaven? Can good deeds, including salvation, be undone with the reversal of time? What will Judgment Day be like? Though there are truly no definitive answers to these and the other questions raised in the thirteen tales collected inside, the stories drawn may just make you wonder a little more about the world around you and the world yet to come
